

BIRD STUDY GROUP

SHREVEPORT SOCIETY FOR NATURE STUDY

Photo Page Two

Ringed Kingfisher, Cross Lake, Shreveport,
Louisiana

Image by: Kathryn Trahan
November 26, 1999

This is a still frame taken from a video made using a camcorder so the quality isn't great, but you can see that it is a Ringed Kingfisher.

Ringed Kingfisher

Photo by: Brian Miller
Taken 26 Nov 1999, on the usual perch.
600mm lens and a 1.5 x teleconverter

Lapland Longspurs - near Hosston, Louisiana
(Caddo Parrish) on 01-29-2000

Pictures and text by Terry Davis.

Male and female in basic plumage found by Jim Ingold and myself. Note that male has brighter chestnut in nape, more extensive white at sides of neck and streaking below is blotchier and darker than the female.

Male Lapland Longspur - note the "long spur".

Female Lapland Longspur

Tropical Parula, Cross Lake,
Shreveport, Louisiana
Moffett's backyard
Image by: Mark Swan

These are video stills taken in the Moffet's backyard. The bird was flitting in an oak canopy 30 to 40 feet above the second story patio from which we strained to see it.

Tropical Parula, Cross Lake, Shreveport, Louisiana
Moffett's backyard
Image by: Mark Swan

I had just bought the camera and had not figured out its dials. This may have been the day that the Moffett's decided that the bird was a Tropical Parula and was the first day that Charlie and Terry saw it - November 26, 1999.

